CONFERENCE TIME—President Nixon confers with Chinese Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung. The

made during a grand tour of the tables at the state banquet in his honor.

Chinese People Warming Up to President's Peking Visit

PEKING (UPI) — President Nixon and Chou En-lai conducted an intensive three hour 50 minute working session today as the government-controlled press and the people of Peking noticeably warmed to the President's momentous visit to China.

At the summit level, Chou was smiling cordial in the company of Nixon. The 73-year-old Chinese premier and the wife of Mao Tse-tung also accompanied the Nixons to a colorful, two-hour ballet performance in the evening that ended the President's second day in the ancient city.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, declined to divulge any substance of the Nixon-Chou talk but he was smiling broadly while fending off questions by reporters on how the summit talks were going. Today's meeting was the second long conference between the two, with another set for Wednesday.

The Nixons sat side by side with Chou and Madame Mao at the Great Hall of the People in a mammoth auditorium that can seat 10,000.

It was also significant that the official government newspaper, Peoples Daily, blossomed forth with a full spread of pictures of Nixon and two and a half pages of text on the visit.

Such publicity was considered unprecedented and the strongest possible sign that China's leaders, from Communist Party Chairman Mao on down, had decided to deal in earnest in ending the 20-year freeze in relations between the two countries.

Long lines formed at news vendor stands to obtain copies of the Four-page newspaper. In addition, wall posters blazoned details of Nixon's meetings with Chou and Mao Tse-tung and drew large throngs of readers.

On the street, the atmosphere also seemed to have turned friendlier. Almost by signal, Chinese in the downtown stores turned on smiles for the 300 Americans who accompanied the President on his mission.

The people of Peking still were not lining the streets to see Nixon, but UPI's Norman Kempster noted, "There does seem to be a change somewhat in the attitude."

"On the first day, they seemed determined not to look at the President, or for that matter to notice the Americans," Kempster observed. "They're turning their heads to look now."

Both Chou and Nixon appeared to be in good spirits as they posed for pictures following their private negotiations at the great hall of the people—a meeting that lasted from midafternoon to almost dusk.

At the ballet—titled "Red Detachment of Women"—an interpreter was in the party to explain to the President and Mrs. Nixon the theme of the performance, carrying a revolutionary theme.

At the end of the performance by the Peking Opera, the Nixons rose and heartily applauded the company and the company in turn applauded them back in keeping with Chinese custom.

The weather during most of Nixon's second day of his eight-day visit was again sunny but cold.

The people of Peking were lined up for two blocks at newsstands waiting to get copies of the six-page "Peoples Daily," which devoted seven photographs and text covering 2½ pages to Nixon and his meeting with the top level of China's Communist officialdom. The paper went on sale during the second formal meeting today between Chou and Nixon.

The paper printed the text of Chou's toast at Monday's big banquet, perhaps the friendliest speech he ever has delivered about America.

Chou's press aide said he assumed that the press waited until today to splash the story of Nixon's visit "in order that our American friends might have the opportunity to publish the pictures first in their papers."

Such treatment of a guest is highly unusual in papers which, of course, take their cues from the government.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers met separately with Chi Peng-fai, the Chinese foreign minister, while Nixon and Chou had their formal conversation.

Rogers said he took a walk "down the street to see the people" in the morning. "So far, we didn't buy anything," he said.

A long, green table under a huge painting depicting the red army's "long march"—where Chou and party chairman Mao Tse-tung solidified their leadership—set the scene for the talks.

Eldest Son of Late Sen. Kennedy Aboard Hijacked German Plane

By United Press International

Hijackers believed to be Palestinian guerrillas took over a Lufthansa Airlines Boeing 747 today and forced it to fly to the Marxist Persian Gulf state of Southern Yemen. One of the 188 passengers and crew aboard the West German plane was Joseph P. Kennedy III, the eldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The Iraqi news agency reported the hijackers released the 50 women aboard the plane but kept all men aboard, including young Kennedy. Then the hijackers set explosives in the plane "to guard against any eventuality," the news agency said.

The official Iraqi news agency said in a dispatch from Aden, the capital of Southern Yemen, that a group calling itself the "Organization of the Victims of Israeli Aggression" was responsible for the hijack. The group was not known in Arab capitals and other Palestinian guerrilla organizations denied they were involved in the hijack.

To complicate matters, it appeared there had been a war—or possibly an attempted coup—under way in Southern Yemen. An Aden radio broadcast reported local troops had beaten back 2,000 mercenaries Monday.

The United States appealed to both the International Red Cross in Geneva and the Southern Yemen government to intervene to gain the release of the passengers and crew aboard the jumbo jet, which had been on a New Delhi to Athens flight when hijacked in the air over Pakistan.

(In Peking, President Nixon's Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, told reporters, "We're very much aware of the hijacking. We are being kept informed.")

It was not known if the hijackers knew Kennedy was on board.

Rolf Bepper, director of Lufthansa traffic at Frankfurt, said he had received word from his office in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, that women and children aboard the plane were released and taken to a restaurant at Aden Airport.

The news agency quoted the hijackers as saying "We declare in the name of the Palestinian people that we refuse any type of surrender. The Nazi (Israeli) state will never sleep in peace."

"We promise to continue our struggle in the occupied lands until the occupation ends," it quoted them as saying. The news report said the guerrillas hijacked the West German plane because "Bonn has given Israeli millions of dollars in assistance and is continuing to do so. It is our duty to show this to the world."

Young Kennedy had been in the new republic of Bangladesh with his uncle, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and the senator's wife, Joan. Although the elder Kennedys had returned to the United States, Joseph had gone to New Delhi to sightsee and apparently was on his way back to the United States.

Many City Streets Clogged, Varied Views on BPW Cleanup

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON Holiday traffic did more to clear Kingston's snow clogged main streets Monday than the snowplows, but that still left many side streets seemingly untouched and sometimes impassable.

Forty-eight hours after the season's worst snowstorm, Department of Public Works crews were still laboring to restore some sanity to Kingston's traffic situation.

Superintendent Charles Cole said many side streets of the city still have about six inches of hard packed snow on the surface, caused by heavy traffic and a sudden overnight temperature drop.

"We'll have to work around the clock for at least another 24 hours," said Cole. "Right now, all roads are passable to the degree of inconvenience."

Cole said the city's snow emergency routes "are okay," but that side streets are a "source of aggravation and trouble to motorists." He cited specifically Main, Cornell and Henry Streets and Smith, Ten Broeck and North Manor Avenues.

"I can understand why the situation is so bad," said Mrs. Henry Fisher of Lucas Avenue, "but they're doing the best they can."

"Considering the conditions, it's not too bad," said John Ferguson of 145 Pine Grove Avenue.

Mrs. Lincoln Hansen of 67 Wurts Street said the DPW "has done a great job. You can't fight Mother Nature."

"They could have done a better job," said Mrs. Harold D. Humphrey of 54 Garden Street, "but it's not completely their fault. None of the streets is particularly good and most are particularly bad, but they've done the best they could."

Both John F. Kauter of 18 Fairview Avenue, and Diane Knapp of 86 Yarmouth Street, said the main streets in Kingston were "very good."

Alderman Clifford G. Sinsbaugh (D-10th Ward) said "taking everything into consideration, they've done an excellent job in keeping the streets open. The major problem is the people who refuse to move their cars."

Glen Stampfle, president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, said "For the amount of snow we got, they've done a very satisfactory job. Wall Street is open and they've even started to remove the piles of snow along the curbs."

Kingston's snow removal operations were not praised in all quarters, however. "They've done a very poor job," said Mrs. Jerome Levinson of Hurley, "the side streets are hardly plowed at all and it's impossible to get through." Kingston is not alone in clearing away the 16 inches of snow that fell Saturday. Many back roads throughout the county are still treacherous, and forced cancellation of classes today at Highland and Saugerties Central Schools. Even the main thoroughfares, such as Routes 28, 32 and 209, are covered with hard packed snow in many places.

SNOW REMOVAL—This section of Central Broadway gets some attention from snow removal crews as Kingston digs out from Saturday's 16-inch snowfall. Plows, salters and sanders worked throughout the night to uncover buried streets. Tow trucks were also in force, as city police report more than 70 cars removed from snow emergency routes. Their owners will be charged $28.75 for hindering plowing operations. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Automobile Accident

City Resident Killed on Northway

SARATOGA SPRINGS Thomas J. Curran of R.D. 4, Box 480, Rosendale Road, Kingston, was ejected from the car as it plunged off the snow-packed highway down a slight incline before overturning, according to State Police.

Curran was pronounced dead at a Glens Falls Hospital. Curran was employed by the Adirondack Trailways Bus lines working out of Glens Falls. He was on his way to that city to report for work today when the mishap occurred.

A friend at the man's home said Curran left last night for work because of forecasts predicting more snow. Meanwhile, several highway accidents were reported by authorities in Ulster County.

Three persons were injured in a two-car crash in the Town of Kingston.

Hurley State Police reported cars driven by Michael A. Mills, 18, of 23 Addison Terrace, Old Tappan, N. J., and Charles Jensen, 72, of 116 Pearl Street, Kingston, collided on Route 28 west of Route 28A at 5:30 p.m.

Troopers Wesley T. Wilson cited Jensen for failure to yield the right of way.

A report of the mishap noted that Mills was eastbound on the highway and Jensen was entering Route 28 from the driveway of a business establishment when the vehicles collided.

Mills sustained contusions of the right knee and possible head injuries. A passenger in his car, 16-year-old Janyce Fincke of 44 Highland Avenue, Harrington Park, N.J., received contusions and lacerations of the face, and Jensen suffered fractured ribs and chest injuries, it was reported.

The three were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance Service.

Kingston Police investigated a two-car accident that occurred at 6:10 a.m. today on Broadway near Stuyvesant Street. The vehicles were operated by Charles W. Staie, 54, of Box 929, Port Ewen, and Charles R. Hamilton, 24, of Route 4, Box 126B, Saugerties, authorities said.

The vehicles were traveling in opposite directions on Broadway when the Hamilton car reportedly skidded on loose snow and was in collision with the other vehicle.

State complained of injuries to his left side, police reported. Hurley State Police reported several property damage accidents that were due to snow and ice on highways.

Fire Destroys Summer Residence

BINNEWATER

Approximately 100 volunteer firefighters from seven communities combined efforts Monday night at the scene of a fire that destroyed a large frame summer residence on Binnewater Road in the vicinity of Binnewater Lake. One fireman collapsed from exhaustion at the scene.

Other fires were reported in Ellenville and Kingston.

The fire in this community was discovered shortly before 10 p.m. and Binnewater fire units in charge of Chief Bert Thorpe and his assistants responded to an alarm. On arrival the volunteers found flames raging in the two-story frame structure reportedly owned by a Staten Island man, whose name was not available.

Because of the deep snow that hampered firemen, calls were sent out through mutual aid summoning fire companies from Rosendale, Bloomington, High Falls, Hurley, Tilton and Cottekill.

It was reported that some firemen used snowmobiles either to get to the firehouses from their homes or to the scene of the blaze which burned out of control for some time.

Fire officials said James Johnson, a Binnewater volunteer was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for exhaustion. No injuries were reported to other men.

The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined. The house was not occupied at the time.

In Ellenville, firemen responded to an alarm Monday night after fire erupted in a mattress in a room at the Park Hotel on Center Street. The fire was confined to that one room, it was said.

Meanwhile, Kingston fire officials called upon police to investigate the cause of fire that broke out in a shed at the rear of 31 Fitch Street at about 1:50 p.m.

Firemen from Engines 1 and 3, Truck 1, Rapid Hose and Wicks Salvage Unit were dispatched to the scene in charge of Deputy Chief Robert Maines.

On arrival firemen found a mattress in the frame building in flames. Boards on the rear of the structure were removed to gain access to the blaze, which was extinguished with a 1½-inch booster line from Engine 3. Fire units reported back in service at 2:39 p.m.

Klein Seeks County Study

ESOPUS An investigation into whether unit pricing would be in the best interests of the people of Ulster County is being called for by County Legislator Louis M. Klein (D-Dist. 7).

Feeling that the right to purchase goods in the market place, free from unreasonable risk of injury or fraud is a fundamental consumer right, Klein said it is the desire of the Legislature to promote and protect the welfare of all inhabitants of the county.

He said he feels this can best be accomplished by the enactment of constructive and effective consumer protection legislation.

Klein asks that the Coroner and Sealers Committee of the Legislature undertake a comprehensive study to ascertain whether the implementation of a system requiring unit pricing for the County of Ulster would be in the best interests everyone concerned.

Education Chief Tells Buffalo He Wants Segregation Plan

BUFFALO (AP) — State Education Commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist said Monday he still wants a school desegregation plan from the Buffalo school board by April 1.

But he added that he was willing to grant the board a "little time" — from one to three years — to implement the plan.

The state education chief made the comments after meeting in secret session with the board and four city councilmen for two hours.

Nyquist's visit coincided with the unveiling of an integration study that proposes busing about 24,000 elementary and junior high school pupils.

According to city figures, 22 per cent of Buffalo's 74 public elementary schools have an enrollment that is more than 86 per cent black, while 49 per cent of the grade schools have 15 per cent or fewer blacks. Of the 13 public high schools, two are more than 96 per cent black while the rest are all less than 43 per cent black, and five are less than 20 per cent black.

A letter Nyquist sent the board last month ordered it to ensure that each school "would reflect the racial composition of the entire district," now roughly 58 per cent white and 42 per cent non-white.

Arriving at City Hall for the meeting, Nyquist bypassed 150 anti-busing pickets at the main entrance and entered the closed-door meeting.

Speaking to newsmen afterwards, Nyquist said he remained firm in wanting a new desegregation plan by April 1.

But, he added, "Depending on the kind of plan they come up with and the sincerity of the board, I can accept something that will take a little time — say three years I to implement."

Buffalo's earlier desegregation plan called for establishing seven new racially balanced middle schools.

"They never followed through," remarked the commissioner. "One middle school was built and another building was turned into a middle school. That was the end of it."

Asked what would happen if the board failed to produce a new plan, Nyquist said he could withhold state aid or more to disband the board, but called those actions unlikely.

Two of the city council members at the meeting were critical of Nyquist.

"The commissioner was very indefinite and vague," said Carmelo Parlato. "He refused to give us a plan or to explain to us what we're doing wrong."

Councilwoman-at-large Alfreda W. Slominski, a former Republican mayoral candidate, said the session with Nyquist "didn't accomplish a thing. He didn't offer any suggestions. Everything was his moral feelings."

The integration study, presented to the board before Nyquist's arrival, was prepared by the board's Advisory Planning Council on Desegregation, a 16-member panel of school officials, teachers and civic leaders.

The study suggests dividing the city into five pie-shaped "neighborhoods" stretching from Buffalo's black ghettos to the city limits. Busing of blacks and whites would be employed to achieve racial balance, but elementary school pupils would be kept within their own district.

The proposal also calls for partial decentralization of the school administration and the establishment of community "advisory councils" to supplement the mayor-appointed central board.

Schools Superintendent Joseph Manch promised the report would receive "very careful consideration."

Muskie Would Debate Other Dems

By United Press International

Yielding to the barbs of his opponents, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, has agreed to debate fellow Democrats seeking the party's presidential nomination.

Muskie gave the go-ahead in a letter to Democratic National Committee Chairman Lawrence O'Brien.

"I respectfully request that you contact other declared candidates to make suitable arrangements," said the senator.

Meanwhile, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., one of those who has been needling Muskie on the debate issue, defended school busing as "one of the penalties we pay for having constructed a segregated society."

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., stumping hard in Jacksonville for the prize share of Florida's March 14 primary vote, attacked Muskie for saying recently that busing "works."

"He's quite an expert in this area," said Jackson. "He's got his kids in private schools. I am the only candidate from the Senate who has his child in a public school."

Jackson's nine-year-old daughter attends a public elementary school in one of Washington's most fashionable sections. It is about one-third black, with most of the Negro children bused in from poorer sections to fill vacancies.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace, the acknowledged leader in Florida and the most vocal Health, Education and Welfare on antibusing, speculated in Annapolis, Md., that a Wallace weight on busing ordered by the victory in the Florida contest, might induce the President to abolish busing by executive order. Such a directive could influence desegregation plans in Florida, that he thought President Nixon's current visit to China would temporarily boost his stock in the presidential sweepstakes but that "economic issues remain the most vital in the campaign."

In other developments: —Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said in Tallahassee, Fla., that he thought President Nixon's current visit to China would temporarily boost his stock in the presidential sweepstakes but that "economic issues remain the most vital in the campaign."

Evidence Points To Visit by Hughes

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A closed-circuit television camera, a squawk box, a peephole and an extra lock have been installed at the entrance to the Managua hotel suite where Howard R. Hughes is believed holed up.

The TV camera, about the size of a home-movie camera, was installed Monday on a wall of the corridor leading to the new and still unnumbered door on the seventh floor of the Inter-Continental Hotel.

A caller also can be scrutinized through a tiny, brass-rimmed peephole now visible in the door.

About 18 inches below the camera is a plastic, two-way talk box about four inches square. On the door, just above the regular key-operated knob, is an additional lock—round, apparently brass and about two inches in diameter.

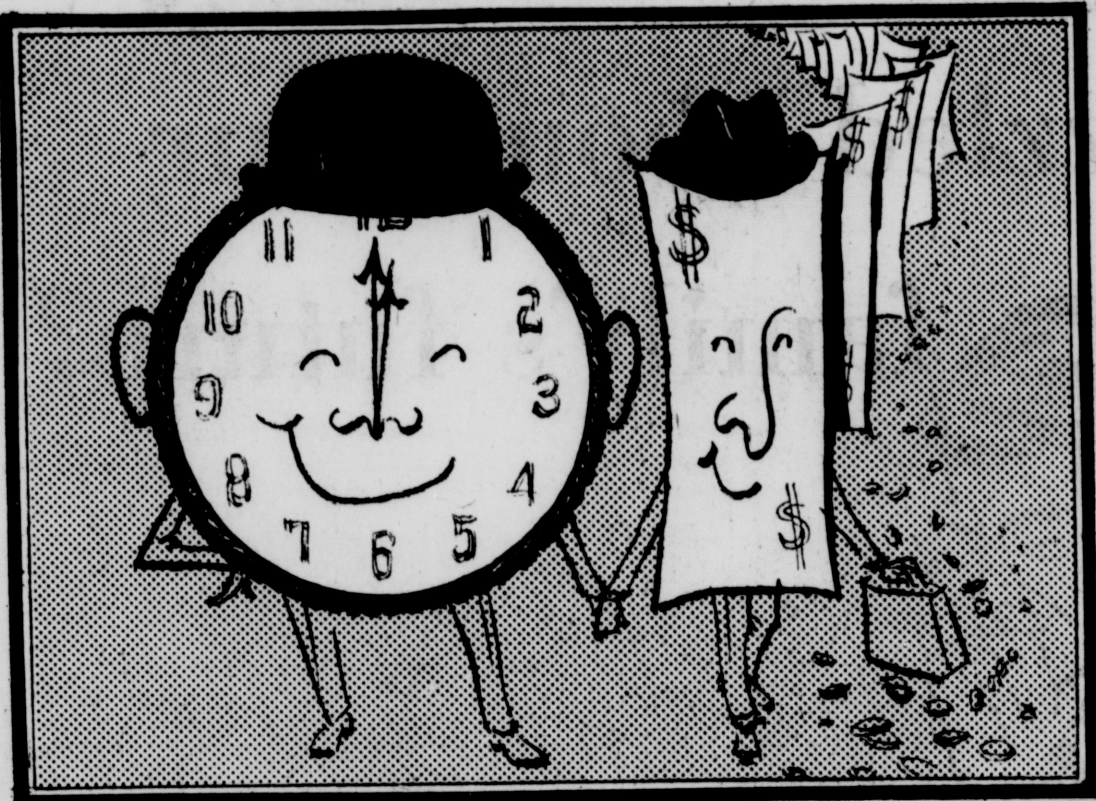

More discouraging than any of these devices to a hopeful visitor, however, are the neatly dressed young men who one at a time keep watch in the hall.

"Is prohibido in hotel," the man on duty Monday afternoon said when a photographer snapped a picture of the security array. The watchman presumably a Nicaraguan, rose from his chair and for emphasis brandished the book he had been reading.

Many of the numerous U.S. newsmen who came to the hotel, hoping to see Hughes, began leaving Monday, their mission unfulfilled.

"This is the most frustrating assignment I've ever had," one said.

There has been speculation that Hughes might be staying at one of the estates of Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza, who invited the industrialist here.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices strengthened on a broad front at the opening today as trading resumed after the three-day holiday weekend.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up fractionally and advances on the New York Stock Exchange led declines by more than 2 to 1.

Prices on the Big Board's most-active list included CNA Financial, up at 23 1/2; International Nickel, up 1/2 at 32 1/2; AMBAC Industries, up 1/4 at 18; and Kennecott, up 1/2 at 26 1/2.

The market slipped back moderately Friday as investors lightened their portfolio in anticipation of the three-day holiday weekend.

Analysts said they were encouraged that volume dried up as prices eased.

NAACP Holds Candidate Night

Elias on Spot in Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE — Ellenville Village Justice Ronald W. Elias, running for reelection this year, emerged from Monday night's NAACP Candidate's Night as the Republican the Democrats would most like to beat.

Elias had to contend with both his opponent, Rivan Krieger, and incumbent Democrat Trustee David Kramer during the meeting, which was held in the Wawarsing Town Hall.

Elias, in his opening remarks, said he had no platform, and according to law, judges couldn't have one. He said if elected, he would conduct himself and the judicial business of the village as the same as he has for the past five years. He was appointed to a three month vacancy, won an election for a year to fill a va-lancy, and then a four year term expiring this year.

He said there were a number of factors involved in setting bail and bail was only used to ensure the appearance of the accused in court, he had not allowed himself to be influenced by politics despite pressures to the contrary, and he had seen to it a Spanish-speaking officer was the officer present during court night.

He also said the poor suffered because there was no transcript taken of their trials because the village board refused to provide the funds, while the rich could hire their own stenographer.

Krieger also dealt with bail, and said it was "not to be used in the village as a weapon." He pledged to take backroom deals, saying and asked Kent if he could verify Kramer's charge. According to Elias, Kent said he knew nothing about it. Kramer then spoke to Kent for an extended period of time, and said Kent would not come down to the meeting for fear of jeopardizing the housing project.

Kramer also brought up the well-known matter of Judge Elias' sewer, a subject which enlivened so many village board meetings. He maintained, as he always has, that Elias got his sewer improperly. Elias maintained that Kramer refused to vote for Elias' sewer only because Kramer couldn't get a sewer to his own home, and village ordinance provided for the Elias sewer.

Kramer said there was no such ordinance. Kramer also said public housing was finally on its way, and gave the credit to the Housing Authority and the Democratic majority on the village board.

Robert Woodhouse, a Republican candidate for trustee, said he was in favor of housing, called for the speedy completion of codification so the codes, especially building codes, can be enforced, proposed a Youth Division for the Ellenville Police Department, and called for the establishment of a Youth Commission.

Democratic trustee candidate Louis Shore said he was for housing, good law enforcement, greater support for mental health, and more playgrounds and program for youth.

Democratic trustee candidate Harry Gorman said he would get everything for Ellenville in the way of municipal improvements that he could, and pledged to work to get new industry for the Ellenville area.

Tivoli Plans Centennial

TIVOLI — Concrete proposals began to emerge from another meeting of the Tivoli Centennial Committee Monday night and responsibilities were designated for several tasks.

Some of the prospective entertainments of the stage type suggested, and under investigation by Ann Salladin are the Poughkeepsie New Yorkers barbershop group; the Hudson Valley Philharmonic with its travelling band shell; the Last Chance Frivolous Sal's banjo band; and available old-time movies.

A safety coordinating committee, composed partially of Joseph Graham and Patrolman Reggie Moore, will maintain unanimity of purpose and prepare parking and traffic facilities.

It was stated by Mayor Mortimer Appel that the long-awaited outdoor macadam basketball court at Tivoli Memorial Park will definitely be ready for use. Tim Schuster will coordinate contests involving teams composed of area players.

The Village Board has pledged an initial $500 to kick off the fund-raising drive, which will be coordinated by Trustee William Bain.

It was also speculated that the "enormous room" on the third floor of the village firehouse-office building will be ready for use as soon as a fire escape can be erected and the interior refurbished to some extent.

A large welcoming banner will be stretched across Broadway with some lumber and paint supplied by Williams Lumber Company of Rhinebeck.

It was strongly suggested by several persons present at the crowded session that the village men grow beards to suit the 100th anniversary.

Mayor Appel announced that Kingston Cablevision, which will have service in many parts of northern Dutchess County within the next two months, has expressed interest in filming segments of the three-day June affair for viewing.

Committee Chairman Bernard Tieger explained that all concessionaires will split their profits 50-50 with the Tivoli Centennial Committee, including organizations and private individuals.

The historical aspects of the village will be contained in the official brochure under the auspices of Historian Joan Navins, and the gala weekend event will be capped off by a parade involving Legionnaires and firemen from both sides of the Hudson River.

Charges have been filed against Mayer and Ronald K. Krom, had charges of third degree rape against them them dismissed in village court Wednesday. Krom still faces a second degree sale of a dangerous drug (marijuana) charge. The department's only detective, Charles Freer, faces an endangering the morals of a minor charge.

All the charges arose from alleged incidents involving 16-year-old Debra Lee Decker of 22 Hickory Street.

Also suspended was Patrolman Anthony Yerkes. No charges as yet.

Support for Ellenville Chief Received From Village Board

ELLENVILLE —

The Ellenville Village Board met with all active members of the Ellenville Police Department Monday night, and pledged complete support of Ellenville Police Chief William C. Trapnell, according to Mayor Robert Dowling.

Dowling said the board also expressed support for the department.

The department has been rocked by the scandal surrounding the suspension of four of its members. Two of the policemen, Patrolmen Carl B.

Mayer and Ronald K. Krom, had charges of third degree rape against them them dismissed in village court Wednesday. Krom still faces a second degree sale of a dangerous drug (marijuana) charge. The department's only detective, Charles Freer, faces an endangering the morals of a minor charge.

All the charges arose from alleged incidents involving 16-year-old Debra Lee Decker of 22 Hickory Street.

Also suspended was Patrolman Anthony Yerkes. No charges as yet.

Pat Nixon Samples Chinese Cuisine

PEKING (AP) — In the family tradition of kitchen diplomacy, Pat Nixon made a tasting tour today of the kitchens of the famed Peking Hotel, the mother house of Chinese haute cuisine.

"This is marvelous. I think I'll sit down and finish the whole bowl," exclaimed the First Lady, deftly locking her chopsticks into a morsel of chicken breast simmering in a soy and mushroom sauce.

All the little chefs in their little white Mao caps beamed with revolutionary pride as the President's lady gazed at random in the spotless white tiled kitchens.

There were goldfish in white sauce, egg rolls rampant on a field of seaweed, steamed baby birds couchant on clam shell pastry, something hairy called "hair vegetable" in chicken soup, and hundreds of other delicacies being whipped up by the hotel's 115 chefs for the noonday delight of the 200 guests in residence in the massive old hotel.

Sun Hein Ming, chairman of the hotel's revolutionary committee, which in Maoist means head chef, played galloping gourmet for Mrs. Nixon's hour-long romp through the menu.

Mingling with the comrades slaving over a platter of hot hors d'oeuvres, Mrs. Nixon was persuaded to sample a sweet and sour stuffed pickled squash.

"It's delicious. Here, try it," said she, turning to a reporter. He swallowed as directed and experienced a small nuclear explosion in the duodenal chamber.

"Very spicy," explained Mrs. Nixon's interpreter, too late.

Amid a flood of TV lights and a push of reporters reminiscent of her husband's triumph in the kitchen debate in Moscow, Mrs. Nixon proved an apt student of the four styles of Chinese cooking. She barely blanched in passing through the rooms where pheasants and ducks hung out to drain, and with instinctive savoir faire she refrained from asking the gourmet's name for the pork fillets that the chefs were kneading and molding into flaccid lumps.

"That one called Beautiful Woman's Rolling Buttocks," volunteered an interpreter out of range of the First Lady's hearing but with sufficient volume for the TV microphone booms.

The President loves Chinese food." Mrs. Nixon assured the wives of the Chinese foreign minister and vice premier who accompanied her on the kitchen tour.

Toward the end of the long march down the endless corridors of epicure, the First Lady firmly turned chopsticks down on further sampling.

"All I seem to be doing all day is eating," she sighed, waving aside a proffered egg roll. "I don't want to buy all new clothes when I get back."

Trade in Peking: Pandas for Oxen

PEKING (UPI) — Premier Chou En-lai is trading President Nixon two giant black and white pandas for two San Francisco musk oxen.

Pat Nixon disclosed that Chou offered the two pandas during a banquet in the Nixon's honor Monday night at Peking's Great Hall of the People.

"You've given us oxen. We'll load up the plane with pandas," she quoted Chou as saying.

Three U.S. zoos, in Washington, D.C., Detroit and St. Louis, already have bid for the native Asian pandas.

At present there are only two pandas in captivity outside China—a female named "Chi-Chi" in London and a male called "An-An" in Moscow.

In 1966, Chi-Chi was sent to Moscow for a three-month rendezvous with An-An. The most passionate moment between the two came when Chi-Chi gave An-An a sound slap on the jaw.

Officials said both now are too old to mate.

The President contacted the San Francisco Zoo before his trip to Peking to clear the musk oxen for a swap. Musk oxen, native to the North American Arctic regions, are huge, shaggy beasts with long, curled tusks—and an overwhelming musky smell.

F4 Phantom Jet Shoots Down MIG

SAIGON (UPI)—An American F4 Phantom jet blasted a North Vietnamese MIG21 out of the sky Monday during an air duel that started when two MIGs tried to intercept U.S. bombers over Laos, the U.S. command said today.

The 1,150-mile-an-hour, Soviet-built fighter was the first MIG shot down by U.S. warplanes since Jan. 19. There have been 113 North Vietnamese planes lost in dogfights while 50 U.S. aircraft have been lost to Communist planes.

The action started when two Air Force F4s, attacking Communist truck traffic near the Bartholomew Pass in Laos, 245 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), spotted two MIGs moving in to intercept U.S. B52s.

"One F4 expended three air-to-air missiles at one of the MIGs," the U.S. command said. "The U.S. pilots observed an explosion and a fireball, and reported one MIG21 destroyed."

None of the American planes were damaged.

In other action, the command said Air Force fighter-bombers four times hit antiaircraft defenses inside North Vietnam Monday in "protective reaction" strikes. In one of the strikes, three Phantom jets reported they destroyed four Communist guns that had fired on planes but in the other cases results of the actions were not known.

UPI correspondent Donald A. Davis reported from the Central Highlands capital of Pleiku that Vietnamese air force jets and prop-driven bombers Monday tore into Communist forces in their border base camp.

Pilots reported killing 50 Communists when they hit an ammunition dump, triggering a 20-minute chain of explosions, Davis said.

Clark Raps Witness In Conspiracy Trial

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Ramsey Clark, chief defense lawyer in the Harrisburg 7 conspiracy trial, says the government's key witness was "an agent provocateur" for the FBI.

Clark, the former U.S. attorney general and one-time boss of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, also described the witness as "a sad person who's made lying a way of life."

The charges came Monday as Clark made his opening statement in the trial of seven anti-war activists who are accused of plotting to kidnap presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger in an effort to force an end to U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Among the defendants are Philip Berrigan, a Roman Catholic priest who allegedly masterminded the plot from his prison cell in Lewisburg federal prison, where he was serving a sentence for destroying draft board records.

Chief prosecutor William Lynch told the jury that the informant, fellow Berrigan inmate Boyd Douglas Jr., kept the FBI advised as to what was going on.

Douglas is not expected to take the stand until next week.

Besides the kidnap plot, Berrigan and his six codefendants are accused of conspiring to blow up tunnels that carry heat to federal buildings in Washington and to vandalize draft boards around the country.

Clark denied this. "There was no conspiracy," he said. "We know Henry Kissinger was not kidnaped. He is alive and well in Peking today, as far as we know."

Clark said the charges were invented "to stop a peace movement, to silence people, to support something J. Edgar Hoover had done."

The defense claims Hoover leaked details of the alleged plot Nov. 27, 1970 in an effort to secure more federal funds for the FBI. The indictment came months later.

Berrigan has been serving a prison term for destroying draft files in two 1968 raids in Baltimore and Catonsville, Md.

Douglas was already at Lewisburg for assaulting an FBI agent and passing bad checks when Berrigan got there in 1970.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 22, 1972

Chou May Aid Vietnam Peace

Jack Anderson Says

WASHINGTON — There's an outside chance President Nixon may gain Chou En-lai's help in arranging a Vietnam settlement. The Chinese premier didn't foreclose this possibility, at least, during his secret preliminary talks with the President's foreign policy czar, Henry Kissinger. An agreement might be possible, for example, to form a coalition government with an equal mix of communists acceptable to Hanoi and non-communists acceptable to Saigon.

This caretaker government would supervise elections for a permanent government, which eventually would take over South Vietnam. The President is reported to be hopeful that, with Chinese support, a coalition government can be established in Saigon, thus removing the biggest obstacle to a Vietnam peace. Nothing in the secret intelligence reports out of Peking, however, justifies the President's cautious optimism. On the contrary, the Chinese Communist cadres have been told not to expect too much from President Nixon's trip. The cadres are responsible for spreading the official Peking line throughout China. Their secret instructions stress that the Chinese have been dealing with the United States through Warsaw and Geneva for 15 years. This has produced no dramatic results, the cadres have been reminded. Therefore, they should not anticipate any significant change in Chinese-American relations. Classic Confrontation. Meanwhile, Richard Nixon, the implacable anti-Communist, is finally facing Chou En-lai, the master communist diplomat.

As a World War II correspondent, I covered Chou for about three months when he was the Chinese Communist representative at Chiang Kai-shek's court in wartime Chungking. He holed up in the Communist party's dismal headquarters down one of Chungking's thousand alleyways. The alley was filled with shadows, its slime-covered cobblestone polished smooth by the tread of centuries of straw-sandaled feet. To be admitted a visitor was obliged to identify himself through a speaks-style peephole — an empty conspiratorial ritual since Chiang's secret police occupied the room overhead. I visited with Chou in the privacy of his living quarters; I talked with him over Peking duck and moo ge gai pan. Not once was there a break in his impeccable Mandarin manners that would reveal much about the man behind the suave smile.

At a reception, I once watched him drink a rival under the table. Not a muscle of Chou's face faltered as his opponent slowly turned to blubber playing the Chinese game of gongbi (bottoms up). Drinking or sober, the urbane Chou has the most disciplined face in diplomacy. With a bland smile or a stony stare, he expresses the mysterious moods of Communist China.

When he beams, as he is now doing upon Nixon, it means China is on the make. When Chou's face freezes, as it does in the presence of the Russians, it registers Peking's displeasure.

Inscrutable Chou. Chou has the handsome face of the actor he started out to be. He was such a pretty fellow, in fact, that he was often given female roles. But if his face is expressive, it is also inscrutable. Only the dark, dynamic eyes are restless — darting, flashing, peering — under arched black brows.

This Chinese Talleyrand gave up his bourgeois beginnings to become a revolutionary, left the theater to perform on the world stage. Trained as a Confucius intellectual, sworn to serve the masses, he was inclined to look upon Marx as a modern Confucius. But Chou turned out to be sufficiently scheming to rise rapidly in the Communist movement.

Indeed, he developed such a talent for conspiring and conniving, ever switching to the winning side, always keeping his head below the purge line, that he came to be called pou tao weng after the weighted Chinese doll that cannot be pushed over but always bobs back up again.

The shrewd Chinese premier has been more a doer than a dreamer. He is looked upon by China's administrator and technicians as leader of the so-called "managers," who are more concerned with efficiency than with theory.

He has planted his disciples throughout China's vast bureaucracy and exercises a powerful control over it. Our experts disagree, however, whether Chou is merely a front man for Mao or now wields the real power in China.

But one thing is certain. Diplomats the world over, who wonder anxiously what the outcome will be of the Nixon-Chou talks, will keep a close watch on the changing expressions of Chou En-lai.

Mitchell's Methods. Long before Attorney General John Mitchell quit his job to do political work for President Nixon, he was dabbling in the political stewpots as far down the line as Nassau County.

Mitchell called several times to Nassau County GOP boss Joe Margiotta about the Republican campaign to unseat Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., a fast rising member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and strong critic of Nixon's foreign policy.

Meanwhile, there are reports that the White House has also contacted New York Republicans. President Nixon's political operatives defeat such effective anti-Nixon Democrats as Reps. Jim Scheuer, John Dow, and Jim Hanley.

Scheuer, for example, may be cranked into a district with amiable, lackluster Bronx Rep. Mario Biaggi, a Democrat who frequently backs the administration. Scheuer, who is Jewish, thus would have to run in a district where the Italian and conservative voters returned Biaggi by a huge margin in 1970.

Zero Taxpayers

Pressed by members of the House Ways and Means Committee to pass a reform bill that would force taxes on individuals with incomes of $200,000 or more, who escaped income taxes last year, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills told how these people became zero taxpayers. First, he explained, that the drop among those who avoided taxes from 300 to 112 was significant.

The combined income of all those who escaped all Federal income taxes in 1970 was only seven tenths of one per cent of the total of all incomes above $200,000, as compared to 1.6 per cent in 1966. Also, the count of 112 wealthy nontaxpayers is preliminary. He thought many of these returns should be subject to audit and, when they were, that more tax liability might be assessed.

It is illegal for the Government to disclose any identifying information from an individual's tax return unless a legal proceeding is taking place. Mills explained that six of the nontaxpayers claimed credits for income taxes paid to other nations in excess of the liability to the United States; Twelve paid income taxes to state governments in 1969 in excess of their 1970 incomes; 13 claimed charitable deductions that offset their taxable income; fifty-five, the largest single group, claimed interest deductions that, along with other deductions, offset all their taxable income.

Mills had good reason to feel the tax reform bill of 1969 had closed most loopholes. If the committee would limit itself to the remaining ones, perhaps they can be closed too.

$122,500 to Raise a Child

The first known major, detailed examination of the costs of foster care reveals that it costs $122,500 to raise a foster child in New York City from infancy to age 18—at least four times what it costs natural parents to raise a child. The examination was made by two Columbia University professors, who recommended greater effort to rehabilitate natural parents, both on humane and economic grounds.

The Community Service Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, had commissioned the survey. It was made by David Fanshel and Eugene B. Shinn of Columbia's School of Social Work. They called the $122,500 figure "startling" and the first of its kind. Their report is entitled, "Dollars and Sense in the Foster Care of Children: A Look at Cost Factors." They analyzed the $11,771,915 spent for the foster care of children in 467 New York families between 1968 and 1970.

Another study for the Commission on Population Growth and the American Future last year estimated the cost of raising a child in a natural home to age 18 at $34,464. That included the costs of childbirth, housing, food, clothing, transportation, education and medical expenses. The difference between natural and foster home care is so great, every effort must be made to promote natural home care—keeping the family together—for the child's sake primarily, as well as for the economy which forces taxpayers to pay the enormous difference.

GROWTH HORMONE — Too many children do not attain normal height and suffer all their lives as "shrimps" or dwarfs. Malfunctioning pituitary glands inhibit their size, but a high percentage are being helped by weekly injections of growth hormone, obtained from death-donated pituitary glands, understandably in short supply. It requires four to seven years of treatment to bring a young patient to the normal height range. There is no greater mercy than to donate an organ, to give life or joy to a child.

WASHINGTON — Many Americans were praying in their churches for the safety of President Nixon and for his success in the trip to the Far East. It so happens that Francis B. Sayre, Jr., grandson of Woodrow Wilson, who now is Dean of the Washington Cathedral — a leading Episcopal Church here — made to this writer the other day the following comment:

"No President can succeed unless his people are behind him, unified in spirit if not in politics. My grandfather found out about that at Versailles! So here is an effort to mobilize the deeper hope of our people in this later day."

Dean Sayre then presented a copy of his prayer, entitled "For The President's Trip," which he is using in the cathedral every day while Mr. Nixon is abroad. It reads as follows:

"O God, whose goodness doth at last prevail, hold the peoples of earth in thy mercy, that freed from the bondage of their divisions, they may be hallowed in peacefulness unmarred by fear."

"Prosper the journey of our President in quest of that peace, that by his courage a bridge may be won, and some high path of healing above the dark tides of enmity.

"Strengthen him in the daring of his purpose by gathering our hopes behind him, lest he doubt the singleness of spirit he will represent, or the brotherhood which it is thy final grace to give, through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen."

This writer was covering news at the White House when President Wilson went abroad to attend the Versailles peace conference at the end of World War I. He left Washington shortly after the armistice, Nov. 11, 1918, following a disappointment in the Congressional elections in which Republicans won control of both houses. A considerable anti-war sentiment already had developed — even though American participation in the war had lasted only about 19 months.

So Mr. Wilson did not have a unified people behind him. When the Versailles Treaty was submitted for approval of the Senate, it was rejected because it contained provisions for the League of Nations. This was at that time regarded as likely to bring more American involvement in foreign disputes. It was not until October 1921, during the Harding administration, that separate treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary were ratified, with the Covenant of the League of Nations deleted.

President Wilson was the first Chief Executive of the United States to cross the Atlantic, and he did so twice to take part in negotiations of a treaty to end World War I. He visited our troops in their camps near Paris. He was welcomed by the representatives and acclaimed by the people of the other nations, who believed that America's assistance into war would be followed by a continued interest in the problems that confronted the countries of Europe.

When Mr. Wilson came back from his trips to Europe, he undertook in 1919 an extended speaking tour of the United States trying to get the backing of the people for the League of Nations. He became ill in September, however, and never recovered his working capacity before the end of his term, though he was able to go to the Capitol on March 4, 1921, to sign legislation just before the inauguration of Warren Harding as his successor in the White House.

The relationship between the United States and the other countries of the world has continued to be a pressing problem ever since World War I. There are many observers who think that World War II broke out because of isolationism was strong in America and Hitler was confident that the United States would not intervene in Europe. There is still a debate as to whether the attack on Pearl Harbor was provoked, but it caused the United States immediately to declare war in December 1941 against Japan and to recognize "a state of war" with Germany.

Following the end of that conflict in August 1945, the United States has maintained troops in Europe as a part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and has stationed sea, land and air forces at bases in other areas of the world in support of treaty commitments. Its allies expect American cooperation in defending themselves. But when there is a divided opinion inside this country, the American position diplomatically becomes weak. That is why a unified people is emphasized as essential in the pursuit of peace.

McGovern's Defense Budget

Bruce Biossat Says

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is an article of faith among this country's ardent liberals that our defense budget can and should be subjected to massive cuts, amounting to at least a third. It is not all easy, however, to show how this can be done.

The only serious, manful try has been made this winter by Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota. Aided by 20 or 30 people he declines to name, he has put together a 56-page "alternative" defense budget which would set annual military spending at $55 billion — just about 30 per cent below present levels.

I submitted McGovern's budget to experts outside the government. They pronounce his undertaking professional in tone, conception and execution. It represents prodigious effort befitting an earnest candidate for the presidency.

Furthermore, McGovern properly argues that candidates' promises of new spending priorities aimed at domestic problems are "empty talk" unless re-forced by some plan to dredge up the enormous funds needed. He has attempted to face up to that hard necessity.

Yet, with all of that said, the judgment has to be that his proposals are nicked by some rather bad flaws. And, inadvertently, the document suggests some glaring incompetence — over the long run — among the senator's advisors.

To deal with this latter proposition first, McGovern said repeatedly through much of 1971 that we could save $7 billion a year by bringing home half the force we have stationed in Europe under NATO.

The figure was always fanciful, as competent budget analysts pointed out again and again. The fact is, such a move would save little or nothing, and might even cost us more.

Note, therefore, that McGovern's budget, in 56 pages, claims not a single dime of savings from the proposed slash of 2-13 divisions in our European force.

No one can argue that the $7 billion cut is "in there somewhere." Using inflated 1975 dollars (a Democrat could not shape the budget until fiscal 1975, McGovern would cut about $16 billion from present outlays for "general purpose" forces, including basic NATO stuff.

Budget specialists say his proposed hard cuts in air wings, naval carriers, total ground forces (down four divisions) and research and development spending would account for $15 billion of the estimated $16 billion reduction. That would leave little for savings on Europe.

A large flaw, incidentally, is McGovern's assumption that a one-third defense budget slash could be achieved by fiscal 1975. Aides talk of "phasing down" to that level. But a Democrat could have just marginal effect on a fiscal 1974 budget prepared by President Nixon.

One expert says the senator is proposing a "quatum jump" downward which is, practically speaking, impossible. Nothing big cuts that fast.

Even if such an enormous cut could be made quickly, another practical question arises. Building back forces and weapons to meet new Soviet or Chinese hostility would take long years. McGovern's budget assumes an easy turn-around to bigger defense if needed. Not likely.

He also commits an unaccountable error in evident wish to impress liberals who hate spending for costly weapons systems (ABM, new fighter and bombers, land-and-sea-based missiles).

He would halt at "seven" the number of U.S. missile-bearing submarines being converted to longer-range, multi-warhead Poseidon submarines. Ten Poseidon submarines are already converted and on station, and probably another 10 of a proposed total of 31 will be finished before a Democrat could take office. All the conversion money will be voted by fiscal 1974.

Dow Withdraws Support For Dam Project

PORT JERVIS, N.Y. (AP) — The proposed Tocks Island Dam project to create a 7-mile-long lake along the Pennsylvania-New York-New Jersey state lines has lost an important supporter—Rep. John Dow, D-N.Y.

Dow announced Monday that he has become "more and more impressed with the arguments of those who oppose the construction of the dam" and has withdrawn his support from the project. Dow said he had originally been "instrumental" in getting the project extended into New York State.

The dam would create a narrow lake extending from near Stroudsburg, Pa., to Port Jervis. Planners of the project say the aim is to provide recreation, flood control and power generation.

Dow told a news conference he fears construction of the dam will create mud flats along the 100-mile shoreline of the proposed lake, will give rise to the danger of a large number of power plants being constructed with a relatively small area, and will lead to the growth of "disagreeable vegetable organisms" in still waters.

Trespass Charge Is Dismissed

KINGSTON — A charge of criminal trespass lodged by police last week against William A. Lee, 17, of 6 Spring Lake Drive, was dismissed Monday.

missed Monday and the youth was released by City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

Another youth, James E. Chase, also 17, of 33 Catskill Avenue, who was cited with Lee and accused of being on property of St. Ann's Convent, was dismissed last Saturday by Judge Richter.

It was reported that Chase had gone to the convent to get art material for school work. Judge Richter said a note confirming the youth's school assignment was received. Both youths thought they had a right to be on the property, it was said.

Two Migrants Frozen to Death

GOSHEN, N.Y. (UPI) — Martha Hamilton, 58, and Willie Smith, 48, were discovered frozen to death outside an unoccupied shanty in this Orange County community Monday, state police said.

The two migrant laborers from Pine Island were last seen early Sunday when they left the village of Florida for the eight-to-nine mile walk home.

Troopers said the two apparently failed to get a ride with a passing vehicle, and listed the tentative cause of death as exposure. An autopsy was ordered.

The two lived at Pine Island Turnpike.

Sled Accidents Kill 2 Children

By United Press International — Two children were killed and another child was critically injured in sledding accidents in New York State Monday.

Irene Lavoy, 6, of Gilboa, was killed when the sled she and her brother were riding slid into the path of a car on Route 3 in the Schoharie County hamlet of Conesville.

The brother, William, 11, was reported in critical condition in the Albany Medical Center Hospital.

In a later accident, Wade E. Baker, 12, one of 11 children, was killed when his plastic "miniboggy" sled slid into the path of a neighbor's car near the family home in Cropseyville, Rensselaer County.

The drivers were not charged in either accident.

In Rhyming Line or Two, Here's Hot Retort for You

DEAR ABBY: The letter from that girl who didn't want to get too chummy with a young man for fear of what he'd say behind her back reminded me of something that happened to me back in 1912.

I saw a pretty little girl at a country dance who interested me, so I asked a friend of mine what "kind" of girl she was. I've never forgotten his reply:

"The grass grows green in Ireland.

The flames are hot in Hell, And damn the guy who'd kiss a girl

And turn around and tell."

(VAN BUREN)

DEAR ABBY: Thanks a million for your answer to that pastor who, for safety's sake, objected throwing rice in or around the church. He said, "If the bridal reception is at the country club, great, throw rice everywhere!" (You said, "So if somebody falls down and breaks a leg at the country club, it's better!")

I manage a country club in Indianapolis, and I am also safety-minded. Furthermore, have you ever seen a nicely polished hardwood floor after rice has been thrown, and guests have walked on it? It ruins the floor!

One bridal couple had rose petals thrown at them instead of rice. That was worse! The rose petals stained our carpet. Why don't we give up the pagan rite of throwing rice, flower petals or confetti?

G.M. GRADY
DEAR MR. G.: I'm with you all the way. If people want to throw something after the wedding, why not be practical and throw money? (At the bride's father. He can probably use it.)

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this in regard to "Neat and Orderly," the 28-year-old bachelor who is concerned about his being such a perfectionist.

I am an 18-year-old college freshman with the same problem. For instance, not only are the bills in my wallet arranged in descending order, the bills range from the oldest to the newest, the oldest being foremost so as to spend them first.

The clothes in my closet must all be facing the same way, and each article of clothing must be equally spaced from the next. (And

I won't have a hanger in my closet that is even slightly rusted.)

So many people have told me that there must be something wrong with me. I started to believe them. But everybody's compulsive about something, and I am compulsive about orderliness, and there are worse things a girl could have. Right, Abby?

ANOTHER PERFECTIONIST

DEAR ANOTHER: Right. And one of them would be for a girl like you to marry a slobbish man.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

French Program for Final Concert in Chamber Music Series

The third and final concert in the Winter Chamber Music series will be held Saturday evening, 8:30, at the Vanderbilt Mansion, Hyde Park and Sunday afternoon, Feb. 27, 3 o'clock at the Church of the Holy Cross, Kingston. This event features a String Quintet plus Harp playing Mozart's Viola Quintet in D Major and a series of French compositions: Saint-Saens' Fantasy for Violin and Harp, Faure's Apres Une Reve for

Cello and Harp, the Debussy Dances for Harp and Strings and Ravel; String Quartet in F Major. Leon Sayvetz and Emily Gallo will be playing violin, James Horton and Olivia Koppell, viola; Larry LeMaster, cello; and Nancy Allen, harp. Leon Sayvetz is a Kingston High School chemistry teacher who was educated in Chicago and studied the violin there. He has been with the Philharmonic for five years and plays music as much as his other activities, teaching and sailing, permit. Emily Gallo is a Juilliard graduate who has studied with Joseph Fuchs and Dorothy Delay, one of the judges for the upcoming Sixth Annual Young Artist Competition. She holds a fellowship at the Berkshire Music Center and has performed extensively in the Bach Cantata Series, the Pro Arte Orchestra and at Studio 58 in New York City.

James Horton was principal violinist of the Santa Barbara Symphony for three years. He has studied with Milton Thomas, Peter Marks and Lillian Fuchs. Olivia Koppell is a graduate of Bennington College and has studied with Orrea Pernel, Raphael Bronstein and Mariano Dessi. She has been a violinist with the New Orleans, New Jersey and American Symphony Orchestras and recently completed a summer institute under the auspices of the Hungarian String quartet. Larry LeMaster is a graduate of Michigan State University. He has performed extensively with orchestras and chamber music groups. Nancy Allen is a seventeen year old Carmel High School senior and a student of Pearl Shertok. She won the 1969 National Harp Contest and place in the 1970 Israeli International Harp Competition. She has been a solist with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic and the Greater Trenton Symphony in New Jersey. This concert will conclude one of the most successful Chamber Music Series the Philharmonic has experienced. The attendance and the attentive quality of the audience demonstrate again that the people of the Hudson Valley appreciate the aesthetics of fine music performed in tasteful surroundings. A reception will be held following the concert at the Church of the Holy Cross on Sunday afternoon. The concert at the Vanderbilt Mansion is held in cooperation with the National Park Service after regular visiting hours. For information and tickets contact the Philharmonic office 54 Noxon Street, for Poughkeepsie; or Gunther Meyer, 2 Pearl Street, for Kingston.

UCCC Wins Mid-Hudson Conference Title

STONE RIDGE
Ulster County Community College's high flying Senators clinched their fourth Mid-Hudson Conference title in the past five years with a resounding 89-65 victory over Dutchess Community College, Monday night at the Senate Gym.

The win came easier than expected for Coach Mike Perry's Senators, who now await the returns of tonight's Region XV basketball game between Manhattan and Farmingdale to determine the first three places in the seedings for the Region XV tournament scheduled to start March

3 at New York City Community. Ulster shot 47 per cent from the field to lead Coach El Evans and Falcons all the way. The modest Dutchess mentor had high praise for Ulster after the game. "I thought we would give them a better game," he said, "but they just had too much for us. I think they have a good chance to go all the way in the Region XV."

Dutchess plays Fashion Institute Tech of New York later in the week to determine sixth and seventh place in the regional seedings.

Coleman Link turned in a stellar performance for UCCC, leading with 20 points and hauling in 11 rebounds. Walter Lloyd collected only nine points but his 10 assists were a team high for the season and his brilliant play in the second half enabled Ulster to completely dominate the action after a 41-32 halftime lead.

Pete Koola chipped in with 13 points, Nelson Marcelle had 16, Henry Nixon 12 and Jackie Knowles 13, although he fouled out in the second half.

Prentiss Thompson led the Falcons with 21 points and Ray Brown had 13. The losers shot 34 per cent from the field. Ulster continues its busy schedule with home games against Delhi Wednesday and Rockland County on Friday night. Both contests start at 8 p.m.

Diamonds Sparkle for SU

NEW PALTZ
Pardon the pun, but you'd have to rate that a rather sparkling performance by the Diamond brothers Monday night, as they paced New Paltz State to a thumping 84-70 basketball victory over Cathedral College of New York City.

It was the seventh win against 12 losses for Coach Silvio Pesavento's Hawks and it was straight out of Cartier's.

The Diamond brothers combined for 30 points on an 82-percent plus performance from the field. Jeff Diamond was 7 for 13 points, and Andy Diamond hit on 7 of 8 attempts for 14 points. Throw in six straight baskets for Glenn Hudson (13 points) and you have the foundations for the Hawks' overall 36-66 effort for a 54 per cent 70 per cent in the second half on 17 for 25.

Five of the Hawks finished in double figures with the team's usual 1-2 punch, Don Valdez and Steve Galuski hitting 17 and 13 points, respectively. Four of the Cathedral players also were in double figures, with Tom McGrail and Bob Grimmer scoring 18 apiece.

Coach Pesavento was impressed by the shooting balance of the Hawks. "It was probably our best team effort of the season," he explained, "and the individual shooting had to be the best."

New Paltz ground out a 41-40 halftime lead but led by margins of 33-20 and 41-29 before Cathedral ran off the last 11 points of the first half to close within a point of the Hawks at the intermission.

The coup de grace for New Paltz was a long downtown pass from Andy Diamond to Hudson for an easy layup when the score was 65-53 and the game still up for grabs. The play stunned Cathedral and they never recovered.

Dunn, Miss Murray Ski Titlists

McAFEE, N. J.
Ted Dunn of Goshen High and Kathy Murray of Ellenville High were crowned Selection Nine individual ski champions here Monday. Monroe-Woodbury captured the boys team standing with a combined clocking of 122.90 seconds, while Monticello High repeated as girl champions in 140.21.

The first 10 skiers in the boys division qualified for the New York State Interregionals at Big Tupper, March 5-7. Miss Murray led Ellenville High to a seventh place finish in the girls division and the Blue Devils finished ninth in boys division, a notch ahead of Ontario High. Neither OCS or Ellenville was able to place a skier in the Top Ten.

Miss Murray spread-eagled the girls field, finishing well over two seconds ahead of the runnerup, Kathy McDonnell of North Rockland. Mary McGrath of Ontario placed tenth among the girls in a 36.77 clocking. The girls, however, are not eligible for interstate competition.

Ontario did not qualify for the girls team standings, failing to place a fourth skier. "The course was in terrific condition," said OCS Coach Rick Barthel. "Miss Murray really showed class and the boys race was one of the most exciting I've ever seen."

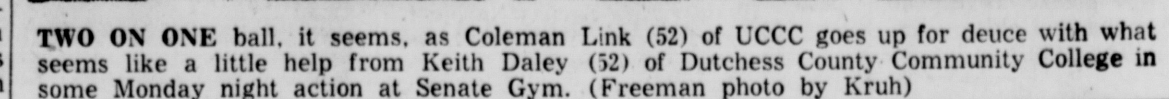

The boys race was a four-way battle to the wire, but Dunn's superior technique over the last giant slalom course gave him a well-earned victory. His 29.19 clocking was 44/100ths of a second faster than the runner-up Dana Ianillo of Monroe-Woodbury, who was timed in 29.63. After him came Gary Pavlick of Monticello in 29.88 and Stan Phillips of Valley Central in 29.94.

Top UCAL finisher was Randy

Miller of Ellenville in 28th place. Mike Mazzola of Ontario placed 32nd and teammate John Sheehan was 37th. Others: Stephen Shear, Ellenville, 42nd; Dennis Callaway, OCS, 46th; Kenneth Baxter, Ellenville, 49th; Tony Eisenbeil, OCS, 52nd and Ellenville golfer ace, Rivian Krieger, 54th.

Robin MacFadden of Ontario was 16th in the girls division and Carol Anderson of OCS finished in 18th place.

Shoemaker Ties Arcaro
By United Press International
Bill Shoemaker, a red-hot reinsman over the last two racing days, drew alongside Eddie Arcaro's all-time stakes winning record Monday when he captured both $50,000 divisions of the San Luis Obispo Handicap at Santa Anita.

Shoemaker, who won aboard Turkish Trousers in the $50,000 Santa Maria Handicap on Saturday, piloted Practicante ($10.80) to victory in the first half and Lord Derby ($23.40) in the second.

The twin triumphs gave Shoemaker—the all-time winning jockey—554 career wins in added money races.

Practicante was far back in eighth position until Shoemaker slipped him through the field on the inside in the final turn and in a long drive he nipped Golden Eagle II by a neck at $3.60 in the first race, who fell to sixth place after the wire. The Argentine-bred Country Judge ($7.40) in the six-year-year-old turned the 1 1/4 miles on turf in 2:26 2-5. Lord Derby found racing room on the rail, grabbing the lead at the head of the stretch, and won by 3 1/2 lengths in the time of 2:27 2-5.

Toter Back, a 48.1 shot, displayed her proud heritage as the five-year-old daughter of Kentucky Derby winner Carry Back and defeated a field of fillies and mares in the $10,000 allowance feature at Gulfstream Park.

Toter Back, under the guidance of Jorge Tejeira, sped 1 1/16 miles over a yielding turf course in 1:45 4-5 and returned $98.20, $25.20 and $14.80 to her few believers in the crowd of 18,207.

Carlos Marquez was the riding star of the day at the Hallandale, Fla., course, rein-to the lead with a total of 595 points, replacing Richard Petty, ($3.60) in the first race, who fell to sixth place after the wire. The Argentine-bred Country Judge ($7.40) in the

Thomas Pleads Guilty

GREENVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—Zig-zag running back Duane Thomas, the player who rushed the most and said the least for Dallas Cowboys, pleaded guilty to having marijuana Monday and received a five-year probation sentence.

Thomas appeared in court clean shaven, wearing a conservative brown suit. His answers to Judge Ellis Garmon were strictly "Yes, sir, your honor."

Thomas' 21-year-old brother entered the same plea and got the same sentence. The two brothers were arrested Jan. 30 while driving through this town 50 miles northeast of Dallas on a Sunday afternoon.

Travel Restricted
"You are not to leave Hunt County or Dallas County without permission of the probation officer or without the court's knowledge," Garmon said. "You will be under some consistent supervision as you travel about the country."

Garmon said he probated the sentence for the 24-year-old football player because "you are a young person and have the potential of a great future."

"Do you understand you have to follow the law whether it's a good or bad law?" the judge asked Thomas.

"Yes, sir, your honor," Thomas said.

"Will you have the power to disassociate yourself from anybody who might have a bad influence on you?"

"Yes sir, your honor."

"There will probably be great temptations. You have to be strong enough to resist and not be associated with drugs or anything like that. Do you tell me you have the strength to resist these temptations?"

"Yes, sir, your honor."

Judge Addresses Bertrand
The judge then addressed

Bertrand Thomas, the younger brother.

"I understand you're going to go to college. You have got to want to go straight and do right. All I can do is give you the opportunity," he said.

Garmon then said he wanted the court's records to show "the parties have conducted themselves in a gentleman-like manner."

The Cowboys, who have weathered past controversies with their explosive running back, had no comment on the sentence. A team spokesman said at present there were no "special plans" for Thomas.

In New York, a spokesman for the National Football League said Commissioner Peter Rozelle would probably not have anything to say until he had studied the entire court proceeding.

Jackson Signs, Richie Balks

By United Press International
Reggie Jackson proved no problem but Richie Allen remains an enigma.

Jackson, the slugging outfielder of the Oakland Athletics, signed his 1972 contract Monday, making this the earliest he has agreed to terms in three years. The 25-year-old outfielder had his best all round season in the majors last year with 32 homers, 80 runs batted in, a .277 batting average and 15 assists.

Jackson is the 29th Oakland player to sign for the new season, but still among the unsigned are pitchers Vida Blue, Diego Segui, Rollie Fingers and Darold Knowles, third baseman Sal Bando, outfielder Joe Rudi, and second baseman Dick Green.

Allen, meanwhile, was among the missing at Sarasota, Fla., when the Chicago White Sox opened their camp. Allen, traded to Chicago from the Los Angeles Dodgers this winter, has proved puzzling in his negotiations with general manager Stu Holcomb. Holcomb contacted Allen by phone 10 days ago and asked the new slugging star to name his own salary figure.

"He named a figure and I said 'okay, you've got it.' But then he backed away," said Holcomb. The figure was believed to be $120,000.

Manager Chuck Tanner next visited with Allen at his home in Wampum, Pa., last week but couldn't talk the controversial star into signing. Allen is among 11 roster players who have not signed their contracts.

The Dodgers, who Sunday signed shortstop Maury Wills and newly-acquired outfielder Frank Robinson, received the signed contracts of Bill Buckner and Billy Grabarkewitz. The Dodgers still have 12 unsigned players, including starting pitchers Don Sutton, Al Downing and Bill Singer.

The Montreal Expos received the signed contract of pinch-hitter specialist Jim Faires and now have just six unsigned players. Those six include outfielder Rusty Staub, second baseman Ron Hunt, outfielder Keith Lampard and pitchers Mike Marshall and Carl Morton.

In other doings, John Ellis took his first drill behind the plate and showed a philosophical attitude over his new position as No. 2 catcher on the New York Yankees. "If anyone expects me to pop off about play-me-or-trade-me, they'll be disappointed. I like to play everyday, but if I can't I still want to play with the Yankees," said Ellis. Veteran catcher Hal King, acquired in a winter trade with the Atlanta Braves, drew praise from manager Ted Williams as the Texas Rangers conducted a two-hour workout. "King could make a lot of difference this year in that he is a left-handed hitter and has good power," said Williams.

Beatty Hits 63

(By Combined Services)
Zelmo Beatty of the Utah Stars pumped in 24-of-31, a .774 percentage and hit all 15 free throws to break the American Basketball Association single-game record with 63 points, as the Stars barely outlasted the Pittsburgh Condors, 149-140.

In another ABA game, the New York Mets downed the Dallas Chaparrals 104-95. Billy Melchionni hit 26 points, as the Nets played before their largest home crowd ever, more than 8,000 at their new Staten Island Coliseum.

Beathard Appointed

MIAMI (UPI)—Bobby Beathard, for the last four years a scout for the Atlanta Falcons, has been appointed director of player personnel for the American Football Conference champion Miami Dolphins.

Beathard replaces Joe Thomas, 49, who resigned from the post after failing to agree on contract terms with general managing partner Joe Robbie.

Fire in Oneida Razes Dealership

ONEIDA, N. Y. (AP) — Some 200 firemen from three counties fought for three hours Monday to bring under control a fire that destroyed a car dealership and threatened homes and businesses in the downtown area.

The blaze started with an explosion in the paint storage room at the A. F. Ryan & Sons Co. Dodge dealership on Cedar St., according to police.

There were no serious injuries, Murphy said. Electric power and natural gas lines into the center of the business district were shut off for more than two hours because of fear the fire would explode the gas or short out the electrical circuits, he said.

Your Horoscope

Wednesday, February 23

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

Until sundown do not let restlessness or the desire to get much done so overwhelm you that you seem unable to rightly function. Then the evening will be excellent for whatever has to do with solving home, family or property interests. Also favorable for wisely and harmoniously handling whatever emotional conditions arise.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take care you do not act, drive or talk hastily today, or you could really get into much trouble. Plan some new course of action that will bring you the advancement you desire. Let romance rule the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You feel depressed in a.m. where money is concerned, but by evening you get the information you need to forge ahead admirably. Don't make promises you can't keep in the morning. Show you have poise. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) It is very easy for others to criticize today, so do nothing that can merit you criticism. Evening is fine for handling practical affairs well. Find the right outlet that will help you get ahead faster.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Morning should be spent making new plans for the future and then later you can get to work on them with vim and vigor. Show others you like and appreciate them. Don't get confused.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you steer clear of those who gossip and waste your time, you can accomplish a good deal today. Show you are a busy person. Evening is fine for whatever is of a romantic nature.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)

You have to make sure you do nothing to jeopardize your good reputation, especially during a.m. You can handle civic affairs well, though they may be a bit difficult. The p.m. is fine for personal matters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have to give those new ideas you have more study in the evening if they are to be workable. An influential person will back you with that fine plan you have. Steer clear of that new contact who talks too much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do whatever you can to earn the favors of those to whom you have obligations during day. Evening is fine for making new contacts of worth. You may argue with mate during daytime, but much affection in p.m. solves everything nicely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Making changes can be good for you now, but first discuss them with close ties, partners, then full speed ahead. If you disagree with others during a.m. do so in a kindly fashion. Give in where you are in wrong.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) By adopting a new attitude toward others you can soon relieve those tensions that habit has been building up for some time. Co-workers will back you where a recalcitrant associate is concerned. Progress is up to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can help others out of bad moods and then get them to go along with excellent plans you have in mind. Take those beauty or health treatments early. Then you can carry on with confidence in your appearance and physical well being.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) The situation at home is rather tense so do not bring up any controversial subjects that could lead to bad arguments. Try to please kin more. Then out to recreations that appeal most to you. Early to bed, though.

be one of those fascinating young people who is full of curiosity about the things around him or her, and everything else that comes to the attention early in life. Later will focus upon whatever is of a financial nature and push right through with ideas to a successful conclusion, all the while relying on the emotions. Will have a good family life. Helping others to help themselves is finest trait.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NEW SCHOOL: (Q.) In a talk I heard you give once, you asked if anyone really hated their parents. Well, I didn't then, but I think I do now.

I am completely fed up. I can't talk to either one of them without starting a fight. They are supposed to love me, but they talk about me as if I were some hopeless, natty object. I hear them talking about me.

Every night I cry. One night recently I took several of my mother's sleeping pills, but nothing happened.

It's been this way ever since we moved here last summer from Colorado. There, I went to a small private girls' school and everything was warm and pleasant.

Here I go to a huge public school and everything is cold and hateful. There is one teacher, my psychology teacher, that I think I could maybe talk to if I had a chance. I believe she might listen to me.

I am a senior. The second day of school, after I had seen it once, I didn't go. I couldn't make myself. I just rode around all day and thought, I decided, though, that I couldn't skip school forever, so I went back the next day and have kept on going. It's awful.

Please write soon. If you don't I may not be here to write to.

(A.) Your letter tells me you are intelligent and perceptive, maybe too sensitive, but you are also sensible. Despite your depressive talk, you see that you are a part of the world and must keep trying. Some of the world's most brilliant and valuable people share your feelings.

I strongly urge you to ask your psychology teacher for an after-school appointment and talk to her straight about your innermost thoughts.

Also look for volunteer work, possibly as a candy striper in a hospital, where you can spend less time thinking of your own problems and more time in helping others with their problems.

Keep trying to talk with your parents. Their actions show that they are concerned about you and want to help, even if they are not sure just how they can.

Danny Kaye Narrates Story

NEW YORK (AP) — The familiar Hans Christian Andersen tale, "The Emperor's New Clothes," received a new and ornate production by ABC Monday night. There was animation, trick camera effects, an enlargement of the story and, best of all, Danny Kaye narrating, clowning and singing.

The old story about the vain emperor being coned into believing his clothes were invisible to himself while he walked around naked was reworked into an intricate tale of intrigue with a wicked court jester, a beautiful princess and all sorts of gags to delight the young viewer. The animation was especially interesting—three dimensional, puppet-like figures that were moved around freely.

The story was neatly spun out, but more of Kaye would have made it more delightful. He opened and closed the show, and in between he was the voice of a long-nosed puppet that was his caricature.

With Danny's talent for children's stories, he could have played all the parts, sung all the songs and wound up with a TV classic.

NBC's two-hour "World Premiere" feature was a pilot program for a series called "Probe." It was an attempt—in concept and certainly in the character of the hero—to out-point James Bond and to take up in TV where "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." left off.

The cool, tough, womanizing agent, played a little too harshly and arrogantly by Hugh O'Brian, was assigned by his secret organization, "Probe," to recover a museum's priceless diamond collection, stolen by Nazis at the end of World War II.

"Probe" operated by wildly sophisticated electronic devices. One was a radio receiver implant behind the hero's ear and another—a sending device—was in his teeth. He was constantly in contact with his computer-equipped superiors—by means of a dime-size scanner that took TV pictures of his activities and relayed his voice, heart beat, temperature and other vital signs as well as those of his enemies.

There was, in fact, so much electronic hijinx that it was difficult to follow what may have been a simple adventure tale. The expensive pilot had marvelous photography, great backgrounds, interesting optical effects and an extraordinarily good cast including Sir John Gielgud.

But the two hours dragged and, with all the mechanical goings-on, the show could quickly become a bore as a weekly series.

John Glenn Feted...10th Anniversary of First Earth Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —John Glenn is honored guest today at a ceremony commemorating the 10th anniversary of his flight as the first American to orbit the earth. More than 3,000 persons were invited to the event at Launch Complex 14, from which Glenn started his journey atop an Atlas missile on Feb. 20, 1962. The official celebration was delayed until today because of the Washington's birthday holiday. Among those invited were space agency and industry members of the Project Mercury team which launched Glenn into orbit. Also attending will be space workers, local civic leaders and other astronauts. The service tower and gantry that cradled Glenn's Atlas rocket still stand, but they long ago were deactivated and weeds grow in the area. The block-house still is used by the Air Force to support launches of secret spy satellites from adjacent Complex 13.

Much of the world seemed to stand still when Glenn vaulted into space in his Friendship 7 capsule. There was anxiety when trouble developed with the automatic controls during the second orbit—relief when Glenn took manual control and steered Friendship 7 to a successful three-orbit mission that lasted 4 hours 55 minutes.

Asked in a recent interview to assess the importance of his pioneer flight, Glenn said: "We didn't know at that time really what man was capable of doing in space. The fact that the automatic system fouled up and man had to prove on this first orbital flight that he could take over manually, well, this was a blessing because it pushed us a little farther than we might otherwise have gone. We knew then that man could function in space...."

The flight opened the way to more ambitious orbital missions that eventually led to man's first landing on the moon in 1969.

Glenn left the space program in 1964 to run for the Senate in his home state Ohio. But that bid was thwarted by a bathroom fall that injured his inner ear and left him in a state of dizziness for nine months. He tried again for the Senate in 1970 but lost in the Democratic primary to millionaire Howard Metzenbaum.

Glenn and his wife Annie live in Columbus, Ohio. He is on the board of directors of Royal Crown Cola and Questor Corp. and is part franchise holder in four Holiday Inns.

Meanwhile, in Moscow, the Soviet Union announced today that its unmanned spaceship Luna 20 had made a soft landing on the moon.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said it was the first moon landing in a "mountainous main-land area."

"A major scientific and technical problem, the delivery of apparatuses to an area with a complicated terrain, has been successfully solved," Tass said.

Two Bomb Explosions in Belfast, Four IRA Provisionals Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Two bomb blasts killed four suspected Irish Republican Army (IRA) provisionals and blew in the front of a Dugannon hotel where three Roman Catholic political leaders were meeting, the army said today.

In Belfast, the army said the four men died Monday when their blue Ford Cortina exploded and burst into flames while rounding a curb in the predominantly Protestant Casltreigh district.

"The car was blown to bits and pieces of bodies were scattered all over the place," a spokesman said. "We recovered enough bits to make up four male bodies."

He said two pistols were found in the wreckage. The men "presumably were IRA on their way to a bombing," he said. He said as many as 40 pounds of explosive in the car may have gone off, blowing parts of the bodies over a 30-yard radius.

Security sources said Protestant extremists may have been involved in the Dugannon incident, where a bomb blast blew in the front and windows of the Dunoon Hotel. Inside,

John Hume, Austin Currie and Paddy Devlin, Social and

Democratic party members of the Northern Ireland parliament, and six other opposition party members were meeting. No injuries were reported.

Troops also found 5,000 rounds of assorted ammunition, three pistols and a rifle in an attic over a girls' secondary school in the Catholic Falls Road area of Belfast, the spokesman said. In Coleraine Monday, Lord Widgery, Britain's lord chief justice, opened his one man inquiry into the Jan. 30 killing by British troops of 13 Londonderry civilians during a civil rights march. Government sources said the inquiry might last up to three weeks.

Monday night, relatives of the 13 victims reversed an earlier decision to boycott Widgery inquiry and said they will give evidence "in spite of our continued grave reservations."

UN Mediator Jarring May Visit Jerusalem

By United Press International U.N. Middle East peace negotiator Gunnar V. Jarring is likely to fly to Jerusalem from his temporary headquarters in Cyprus "in a few days," diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said today. He met in Nicosia with the Israeli ambassador today to set the date.

Israeli government sources said Foreign Minister Abba Eban may cut short his vacation to head top-level government talks to forge policy for Jarring's visit.

The visit surprised and flustered Israeli officials, who have been openly displeased with Jarring's Middle East peace stance.

A government spokesman said Jarring also paid a courtesy call on Cypriot Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou Monday.

The spokesman said Jarring informed Kyprianou that he had reopened his Middle East peace mission and that "he considered Nicosia as the headquarters."

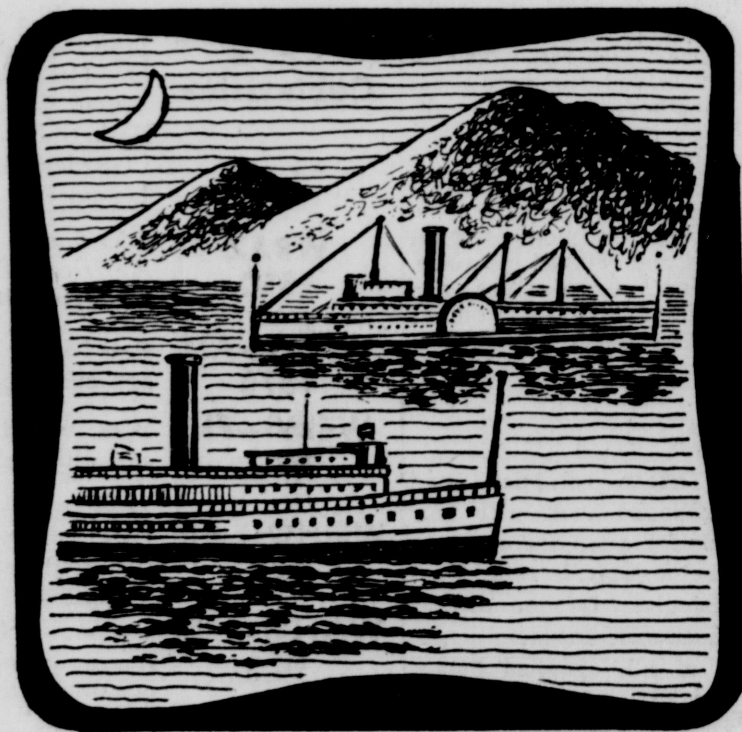

Diplomatic sources said both the Arabs and Israelis favored Nicosia as the meeting place.

Sources in Tel Aviv said Jarring gave Ambassador Rabin an outline of his earlier talks with Egyptian officials and advised the Israeli diplomat of his intention to go to Israel. The meeting did not touch on "substantive matters."

Most government sources were baffled as to what prompted Jarring's visits to either Cairo or Jerusalem. They said they had no information on any break-through Jarring might have achieved in his talks in Egypt. "We still think the best way for Middle East peace efforts to proceed now is under the American initiative to reopen the Suez Canal," one source said. "But we'll certainly give an ear to Jarring when he comes down here."

S/Bs "Ansonia" and "Saugerties" sailed 48 years of pleasant night runs for N.Y. passengers (and hay).

In those horse-and-buggy days, we began serving Saugerties, too — $32,000,000 now on deposit. (And that ain't hay!)

Captain Robert A. Snyder founded the Saugerties and N.Y. Steamboat Co. in 1886. And the Ansonia got under way with staterooms and dining-saloon full—and a load of paper, fruits, hay and other upstate products in the hold.

It was a leisurely era along the Hudson. But, like Saugerties builders before him, Captain Snyder put hard work, initiative, and resources into his enterprise. Saugerties Savings began helping to build such resources in 1871.

We're still at it. Times and the financial picture change. And we modify our services to fit. Chief among them: savings. In several different forms. One, or more, to fit your financial picture. At Saugerties Savings. Let's talk it over today.

Committee Hearings Begin On Kleindienst Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee opened hearings today on the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst as attorney general. Liberal Democrats are expected to use the occasion to attack Nixon administration law-and-order policies.

Regardless, all signs point to overwhelming committee approval and Senate confirmation of the conservative 48-year-old Arizona as successor to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Mitchell is leaving March 1 to direct President Nixon's re-election campaign.

As Mitchell's deputy, Kleindienst has been an outspoken champion of such Justice Department anticrime measures as preventive detention, no-knock searches and wiretapping, and of mass arrests during last year's May Day antiwar demonstrations in Washington. Those policies and actions have come under liberal attack.

Kleindienst also is expected to be questioned about the Justice Department's enforcement of the Voting Rights Act and other civil-rights measures.

Similar civil liberties and civil-rights issues were raised at the committee's hearings last year on the nomination of William H. Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general, to the Supreme Court.

The Senate confirmed Rehnquist's nomination last December by a 68-26 vote, and even less opposition is in prospect for Kleindienst's appointment.

The Senate traditionally has taken the position that a president should have wide leeway in selecting members of his cabinet.

The only senators who have said they will vote against Kleindienst are George McGovern, D-S.D., and Fred Harris, D-Okla.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said he knows of no GOP senators who intend to vote against confirmation.

McGovern, a candidate for his party's presidential nomination, said Kleindienst has favored repressive anticrime measures and also has sought a slow-down on civil-rights enforcement.

A different tack was taken by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, another Democratic presidential candidate. Humphrey sent a letter to Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., urging the hearings on Kleindienst's nomination be broadened into an inquiry "into the state of law and order under the present administration."

Discrimination Bill Nears Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — After five weeks of Southern-dominated debate, the Senate is headed toward passage of a bill to strengthen the federal ban on discrimination in employment.

Senate leaders predicted debate on the bill would be cut off today, although two earlier efforts to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority failed by nine and six votes, respectively.

The stage was set for the debate-ending vote by the filing Friday of a petition signed by 53 senators, two more than a majority.

Senate leaders expressed confidence that amendments could be disposed of and the bill passed quickly after debate was ended.

Remaining amendments include a possible modification of the Senate's decision last Tuesday to deny the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission the power to issue its own cease-and-desist orders against discriminatory practices, but allowing injunction suits in federal courts.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.,

said he is working to clarify authority of U.S. courts to appoint special masters to try job discrimination complaints.

The bill would broaden the federal ban on job discrimination by covering all employers of 15 or more persons rather than 25, and unions of 15 or more members. The bill would also include for the first time 10.1 million state and local government employees.

Specifically exempted would be state and local elected officials and legislators and their personal assistants and immediate advisers.

Direct enforcement of the bias ban by the EEOC was sought by civil-rights groups. But court enforcement was supported by the Nixon administration and adopted in the bill passed by the House last September.
